pui allowance is the limited as the Malnad allowance - but will be an anomaly since it will increase the house allowance which the Inspector receives, he being an executive officer. He will also have support the argument that the Inspector that he need not maintain a horse as he has not been given an allowance for the purpose as the Inspectors are. If the limit is not the limited as the Malnad allowance. Then it should be shown how much it is the Malnad should receive the normal house allowance -

It would have been well if the point had been made clearer in the draft putup.

16) It is desirable to give the Inspectors the House allce, but the local allce of 50 Rs. is very high compared to the pay of the officers concerned & may well be reduced to 25 Rs.
